

Salty Sailing presents

Traineeship

Start sailing. Build experience.
See where it takes you.

RYA training, real sea miles, practical marine skills and real insight into the industry.

ONE PLACE ONLY

Applications close 1st January 2027

The opportunity

Get inside a real sailing business

We're offering one person the chance to get involved with everything we do. This isn't a course where you turn up, get your certificate and leave. Alongside your RYA training, you'll learn first-hand what it really takes to run a sailing business, on the water, in the yard and behind the scenes, with our team in Cowes.

You'll progress up the RYA training ladder and finish with a full set of qualifications, real sea miles and practical marine skills, plus an insider's understanding of the industry that really means something on a CV. The timeline and programme are designed around the chosen candidate.

Your RYA training pathway

*Yachtmaster Offshore preparation is available on the extended programme for applicants with qualifying sailing experience. Plus RYA Powerboat Level 2, RYA VHF Radio, RYA First Aid and two Channel crossings.

What's involved

More than just sailing

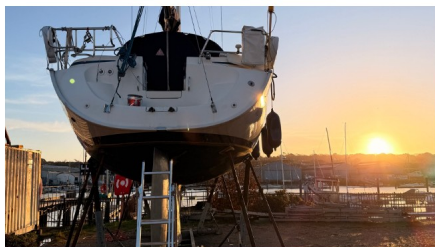

You'll spend your time across every part of the business. Some days you'll be at sea on courses or extra sails, others you'll be in the yard with your hands in an engine, or learning how we tell the Salty story online.

01 · Training & sea miles

On the water

- Progress through the RYA ladder, from Competent Crew to Coastal Skipper
- Build real sea miles, including two Channel crossings
- Extra sailing alongside our skippers and instructors
- See how courses and trips are run from the crew's side

02 · Practical marine skills

In the yard

- Engine maintenance
- Winch servicing
- General boat maintenance and yard work
- Rigging and deck equipment
- Learning how a fleet is prepared for the season

03 · The business side

Behind the scenes

- Social media and content creation
- Seeing the commercial side of running a sailing school
- Seeing how we look after customers day to day
- Mentoring from experienced sailors throughout

Who it's for

Anyone aged 18 or over who wants to build a life or a career on the water and see how the industry works from the inside. You don't need sailing experience to start, as the programme begins at Competent Crew. If you already have qualifying miles, ask us about the extended programme with Yachtmaster preparation.
